

I have been the proud owner of eleven solar panels for the past eight years, which is one of the smartest moves I have made in my eighty years of living. Since August of 2014 my system has produced 21.22 MWh and saved me countless dollars. One might say, "That's A No Brainer."

I think its due time for high schoolers be afforded the opportunity of the many benefits of solar power as well as all the harm fossil fuels have done to our planet. I strongly support any efforts that support our many means of further protecting our one and only planet.
